WINDOWS 10: CUSTOMIZING IT

TIP #1:    You can resize the Start menu.
          Just drag the edges.

As you scroll down the list of apps displayed in the START MENU you see the category names.

If you widen the Start menu by dragging the right-hand edge, Windows will (if you widen the Start menu enough) move one of the lower categories of apps up and beside your original list.

TIP #2:    Add more programs (across) without having lower categories migrate up beside your original list (as mentioned in the tip above).

Indicate to Windows that you would like more programs displayed (in each category):

1. Click the 🪟 start button (on your keyboard) – or click the START menu at the bottom-left.
2. Immediately type start menu
3. Click START SETTINGS that appears at the top of the list.
4. At the SETTINGS window that appears – click ON the SHOW MORE TILES option.
5. Click the X at the top-right corner of the SETTINGS window.
6. Now, when you click the START button, your category area has expanded by the width of one tile so that you can display more apps across instead of downward.

TIP #3:    Pin APPS (from the app side of the Start list) to the program (right-hand) side.

It will automatically appear on the program side – mind you, it will appear at the bottom of the program side…so you might want to drag it up to a more visible position near the top of the list.
